Tornaviaje/The Return Route

February 9th, 2017 - May 27th, 2017

National Hispanic
Cultural Center,
Albuquerque, NM

In 1565, following the currents of the winds, Spanish galleons sailed across the Pacific Ocean from the port of Acapulco in Mexico to Manila in the Philippines in search of goods and spices, unaware of the everlasting cultural consequences that would bind us forever.

Penitents: World End Rituals of Faith

June 22nd, 2017 - September 17th, 2017

Guy Veloso's images capture a moment in time where faith, consciousness, and cuerpo become one through rituals. The photographic documentation of the rituals disrupts our contemporary urban reality, summoning another more ancient reality to action at the world's end. As we experience Veloso's reality, we become penitents ourselves albeit from different hemispheres.

Las Adas

October 12th, 2017 - January 14th, 2018

Las Adas explores cultural connections linked to the idea of identity and bicultural influences. Exploring this process unveils for us how far our postcolonial, consumerized mind has distanced itself from our humanity: sacred, magical, and divine.
