DAILY FLIGHTS DEPARTING FROM CHARLES DARWIN NATIONAL PARK

Charles Darwin National Park

Charles Darwin National Park, located only 5kms southeast of Darwin City, is the point of departure for all our scenic tours. A new Australian National Park, it offers the perfect backdrop for bush walking and cycling with suitable trails, picnic lunches with shaded BBQ facilities, lookouts with spectacular views of Darwin Harbour, its wetlands and CBD, PLUS an area of natural and cultural significance to explore when not flying high over the city. Varying in length, our scenic tours cater for all individuals and groups including those in tour buses on tight timetables ensuring ample time to explore the city from above, as well as uncover all the facets of the park, from its important mangroves, to shell middens from Aboriginal owners, the visitor centre and World War II military bunkers.

10 minute scenic flight:

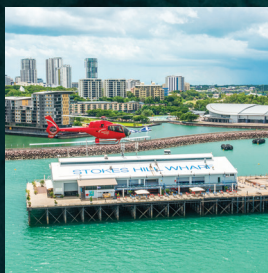

Darwin City

Flying coastal, enjoy Darwin City's vast and contrasting views, while discovering from above the sights that make Australia's northern capital so special to the people of Darwin and historically significant. This flight gives you a true layout of the city, its history and landmarks pre and post-World War II and Cyclone Tracy.
