

THE HUNT MUSEUM

The Hunt Museum exhibits one of Ireland's greatest private collections of Art and Antiquities, dating from the Neolithic Period to the 20th century. Generously donated by the Hunt family to the people of Ireland, this diverse collection is now housed in Limerick's 18th Century Palladian style building, formerly The Custom House.

Upcoming Exhibitions: Jack B. Yeats and Paul Henry

June to September
This summer The Hunt Museum will be host to an exhibition of two of Ireland's most influential

Faces and Places: A Photographer's Journey - An exhibition of photographs by Gerry Andrews Friday 24th February – Thursday 30th March

Gerry Andrews interest in photography started as a nineteen year old while working in the Limerick Leader. In recent years he has travelled extensively throughout South East Asia, South America, India and Cuba. In 2011, he spent a period of time making a photographic record of the vanishing tribes in the Omo Valley in Ethiopia and this work was subsequently featured in a profile of him on RTE television. He has received numerous photographic awards for his images. He has a specific interest in social documentary photography and was awarded a Fellowship by the Irish Photographic Federation for his work in this genre.

TALKS & LECTURES

HIGHLIGHT LECTURES

'The function of Y – mysterious objects from the Celtic Iron Age in the Hunt Museum' by

Cathy Swift

Monday 6th March,

1pm - 2pm

Celtic related art styles spread across Europe, including Ireland, during the late Iron age. The most mysterious and perhaps intriguing of these objects of this style may well be "Y-shaped objects" often found with bridle bits. The Hunt Museum collection has an example of these and this talk attempts to place the group within the cultural context of later Iron Age Ireland and Europe.

A lecture by Michael Canning

Monday 3rd April, 1pm - 2pm Michael is a Lecturer at the Department of Fine Art, at Limerick School of Art & Design, LIT.
His studio practice addresses issues in painting, sculpture and printmaking surrounding the relationships between imagery and its meanings, matter and its transformations, history, memory and fact. Michael will speak about the Virgin Mary fragment in the Hunt Collection.

'The Way of Pilgrimage: Journeys of Junkets' by Dolores McBurnie

Monday 8th May, 1pm - 2pm

This lecture will explore the varied and changing forms of pilgrimage. It will emphasise stated and underlying purposes, along with differing meanings given to journeying.

TALKS & LECTURES

ARTIST CONVERSATION SERIES

Join us for an informal discussion with artists featured in Curator's Choice. They will talk about their artistic practice and you can ask them questions about their work in a friendly and relaxed environment. These events are open to the public.

will discuss Gerry's love of photography, his travels and much much more.

Holocaust Memorial Day Lecture

Monday 24th April, 1pm 'The Shoah, Child Victims and Legacy'

Mary Honan's multi-media presentation on Shoah childhood draws on video footage and the audio interviews she conducted with child survivors and children of survivors. This presentation is primarily concerned with building bridges, not barriers, the Shoah's legacy, and dialogue as a pathway to understanding and friendship.

Jewellery Workshops

Tuesday 4th & Monday 10th April, 11am - 1pm

May dates TBC Metal forging is one of the oldest metalworkina processes, dating as far back as 4000 BC. Traditionally, this process was performed by a smith using metal heated in a forge and formed with hammers on an anvil. Forging is still practiced by contemporary silversmiths in the creation of jewellery. In this two part workshop delivered by silversmith Sarah Gough, workshop participants will learn how to create a sterling silver pendant using a hammer, pliers, anvil and other tools. Silver and tools will be provided. €20 per class for Friends. €27 per class for nonmembers. Adults only. 6 per class.

To book, please call 061-312960 or email friends@huntmuseum.com
