Cliff jumping & Deep water soloing

Take a ride with us to hidden cliffs, try different jumps from 2 to 10m height and then climb out from the sea to do some more! Deep water soloing (DWS) is a discipline where the climber climbs from the sea level without any climbing gear except climbing shoes that we provide you with. Any wrong move and you are back in the water with a big splash! This discipline gives you an adrenaline rush and it's great fun. The climbs range from really easy to difficult ones and jumps vary from 2 to 10m height.
